

CONTAGIOUS

06

NEWS

Contagious brand ideas

Intelligent retail in the omnichannel era, brands introducing frictionless mobile payments, imaginatively enhancing experiences with beacons and hacking new platforms to reach people in unusual places.

24

WILDFIRE / INTERVIEW

Andrew Hessel, Autodesk

Chris Barth speaks to the research scientist at Autodesk's Bio/Nano/Programmable Matter group about the science-fiction world of synthetic biology.

46

SMALL BUT PERFECTLY FORMED

Little brands, big thinkers

The startups and companies that have impressed this quarter. Those punching above their weight in terms of revenue and visibility include Heml.is, Synqera, BleepBleeps and Three Over Seven.

84

SECTOR FOCUS /
RETAIL FULFILMENTSigned, sealed, delivered

Brands are experimenting with drones and car drops to create speedy and convenient delivery services. Chloe Markowicz explores how delivery is driving purchase.

18

BANKING ON DISRUPTION

Contagious thinking / By Patrick Jeffrey

The shortfalls of the banking industry have allowed companies from other sectors to effectively become financial institutions. Banks need to respond by rapidly learning from these new competitors.

28

WILDFIRE

Design, technology and virtue

This quarter's picks include micro-robot doctors, anonymous gossip apps, cutlery inspired by molecular gastronomy and bacteria-based fabric dyes.

54

CASE STUDY / LAND ROVER

Making tracks

The SUV category is growing faster than any other in the auto sector. Patrick Jeffrey investigates how Land Rover, with its 65 years of motoring heritage, is staying relevant in this ever-more competitive marketplace.

92

IN THE FIELD / INTERVIEW

Danah Boyd, Microsoft Research

The software giant's principal research scientist tells Ed White how identity, anonymity and privacy are being reshaped by social networking technology.

20

THE RIGHTS STUFF?

Contagious thinking / By Dan Southern

Global sponsorships can bring breathtaking brand moments, but they are increasingly going to be subject to scrutiny and scepticism. Sponsors need to find ways to talk about the issues that matter.

36

FEATURE

Cannes contenders

Contagious and leading industry figures lay out the year's key themes and highlight the work most likely to take home the Lions in June.

66

INSIDER IDEAS

Putting a price on privacy

Arwa Mahdawi explores why marketers can no longer afford to skirt consumer privacy issues, looking at how they can be transformed from a regulatory headache into a competitive advantage.

96

UPSTARTS

Future talent

Young guns from across the globe: meet entrepreneur Ritesh Agarwal, Israeli wearables creator Dor Tal and fashionista-turned-technologist Ying Gao.

22

THE HARDWARE RENAISSANCE
AND YOUContagious thinking / By Chris Barth

As the hardware startup ecosystem blossoms, opportunities abound for brands and agencies. The line between product and brand is less defined than you may think.

42

UP AT NIGHT / INTERVIEW

Paolo Mercado, Nestlé

Emily Hare speaks to Nestlé China's head of marketing about creating brands that fit into people's lives, creative talent and survival of the fittest in the country's digital landscape.

72

CASE STUDY /
NEWCASTLE BROWN ALETruth in advertising

In an industry known for big-budget puffery, this frugal brown ale fights back with witty, self-referential marketing that dominates digital. By Chris Barth.

100

INDEX

The brands, companies, people and agencies showcased in this issue of Contagious.

