

R

CONTAGIOL

- 06 NEWS & TRENDS
Contagious brand ideas
 How telcos are using purpose to differentiate their services, brands are taking education beyond the classroom and packaging is being reinvented to give products additional functions.

- 26 WILDFIRE / INTERVIEW
Adrian David Cheok
 Emily Hare speaks to Adrian David Cheok, professor of pervasive computing at London's City University about digitally transmitting smell, taste and touch to develop a multisensory internet.

- 50 CASE STUDY / BEATS
Make some noise
 Chris Barth on how Beats has built a category from the ground up, using everything from guerrilla influencer marketing to big-budget TV spots. Following Apple's $3bn purchase, the brand has never been stronger.

- 88 FEATURE
Cool Code, Bro
 An excerpt from Nick Parish's new book considers the monumental task of developing a digitally capable workforce to make software.

- 20 BRANDS BEHAVING BADLY
Contagious thinking / By Louise Potter
 Goodness may be top of the marketing agenda, but there are still a few brands embracing sinfulness in a bid to stand out from the crowd.

- 30 WILDFIRE
Design, technology and virtue
 This quarter's picks include a glimpse into the chemically enhanced future of food, family-friendly robots, connected cups and algorithms to measure emotional attachment.

- 62 INSIDER IDEAS
Contextual integration
 Will Sansom looks at how a new age of consumer-centricity is being ushered in by brands, using smart technologies to connect with individual users based on time, place, persona and even the weather.

- 92 IN THE FIELD / INTERVIEW
Genevieve Bell, Intel Labs
 Ed White talks to Genevieve Bell, director of user experience research at Intel Labs, about marrying social science, design, computing and engineering to 'invent a better future'.

- 22 WEAPONISING YOUR AUDIENCE
Contagious thinking / By Alex Jenkins
 When budgets get tight and you can't outspend the competition, it's time to use everything at your disposal. Even the public.

- 38 UP AT NIGHT / INTERVIEW
Marc Mathieu, Unilever
 What issues give the global SVP of marketing at Unilever sleepless nights? Emily Hare finds out.

- 68 CASE STUDY / KLM
Flying social
 KLM, one of the world's oldest airlines, has reinvented itself as a social business, enabling it to stand out in the ever-more competitive airline sector. By Chloe Markowicz.

- 96 UPSTARTS
Future talent
 Young guns from across the globe: meet entrepreneurial technologist Xinyi Chen, ex-Google 5 recruit Isaac Blankensmith and interaction designer Philipp Ronnenberg.

- 24 EMOTIONAL DATA
Contagious thinking / By Ed White
 Data can build brands with emotional resonance.

- 42 SMALL BUT PERFECTLY FORMED
Little brands, big thinkers
 The startups and companies that have impressed this quarter. Those punching above their weight in terms of revenue and visibility include Osper, FireChat and Wecyclers.

- 80 MEDIA FOCUS / MOBILE MESSAGING
Talk is cheap
 Armed with hundreds of millions of users, mobile messaging apps are making their mark on the communications landscape. Patrick Jeffrey investigates the opportunities for brands.

- 100 INDEX
 The brands, companies, people and agencies showcased in this issue of Contagious.

